Labor Peace Is Pledged

Teamsters, AFL-CIO Adopt Wait-See Attitude Following Ouster of Union

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J. (AP)—The newly expelled Teamsters Union and AFL-CIO officials who drove them out pledged today to preserve labor peace.

Spokesmen for the federation and the mammoth truck union, adopted a business-as-usual, wait-and-see attitude following the teamsters' ouster on corruption charges.

Teamsters' Vice President Einar O. Mohn, who made a fruitless attempt to avoid expulsion, said the union would not carry a chip on its shoulder.

Informed sources said even the strongest foes of the teamsters on the AFL-CIO executive council wanted to postpone setting up a rival union that might touch off a full-scale labor war.

AFL-CIO President George

Meany, speaking shortly before the AFL-CIO convention voted almost five to one for ouster, was far from truculent.

"There is no attempt of any sort and no plan at all for a war with the teamsters, and we hope that it will never come," he said.

The union was bounced for failure to remove President Dave Beck and his successor, James R. Hoffa. Both men were accused of misusing union funds and Hoffa was cited for tie-ups with labor racketeers.

The toss-out followed nearly a year of investigations by the Senate Rackets Committee and AFL-CIO ethics enforcers.

The roll call vote—based on the union membership—showed 10,458,598 votes for expulsion and 2,266,497 against.

Hoffa Affirms Peace

In New York, where he is on trial on wiretapping charges, Hoffa affirmed the union's peaceful intentions unless the AFL-CIO tried to "direct or control us."

The departure of the 1,500,000-member union marked the greatest exodus from organized labor since the CIO unions pulled out of the AFL more than 20 years ago. Mohn told a news conference after the ouster that the teamsters would continue to respect its mutual aid pacts with a half dozen other AFL-CIO unions.

Three Historical Markers Arrive, Will Be Placed in Near Future

Announcement was made at a meeting of the Saline County Historical society at the Mitchell-Carnegie library Tuesday evening that three historical markers have arrived and will be placed by the Highway department in the near future. It also was announced that the La Guir-Année Singers will observe an ancient French custom on Dec. 19 at Prairie du Rocher, Ill.

President Louis Aaron presided at the meeting.

The "Kaskaskia - Shawneetown and Goshen Trail" marker will be placed on Route 142 east of Eldorado, the "Tobacco Industry" marker within the city limits of Galatia; and the "Elder Homestead" marker near the water tower in Eldorado.

Rita Towle, eighth grade pupil at the Washington school in Eldorado, sang "O Holy Night," accompanied by Mrs. Wilbur Fowler, Vincent Kasar, sixth grade pupil at Lincoln school, sang "Ave Maria," accompanied by Barbara Johnson, also a pupil in the sixth grade.

Tribute to Mrs. Ida Choiser, who passed away Nov. 10, 1957, was offered by T. Leo Dodd. Mrs. Choiser was the oldest member of the pioneer Elder family which settled in Eldorado in 1820 and which was co-founder of that town. She was a member of the Saline County Historical society, the Southern Illinois Historical society, the Illinois Historical society and the Samuel Elder Chapter D. A. R. At the conclusion of the memorial service Mrs. Ray Altire accompanied those assembled in singing "Amazing Grace," theme song of the Elder family.

Mrs. Clyde Pittman was the speaker for the evening. She told of her tour of Europe beginning with a visit to the Stock Exchange and the United Nations Building in New York City. She told of her visit to France, Italy, Switzerland, Holland, Germany and England.

Mrs. Pittman's ability to tell a vivid and interesting story was enjoyed by the thirty members and guests present. Her visits to out-of-the-way places, conversation with people, and her knack of relating a graphic story about historic relics and places made her talk outstanding. Many remained after the meeting to talk with her and to look at pictures and keepsakes of her trip.

A social hour was enjoyed after adjournment. Mrs. James Bond was chairman. The assembly room in the Mitchell-Carnegie Library was decorated in the holiday theme with Christmas trees, angels and pine branches. Cranberry tea and Christmas Delight was served.

B47 Crashes in Takeoff Attempt; Crewmen Killed

SHREVEPORT, La. (AP)—A huge B47 Stratojet bomber, its right wingtip dragging against the concrete runway, crashed and burned in a take-off attempt at nearby Barksdale Air Force Base Friday, killing all four crewmen aboard.

The plane slid off the concrete and into a muddy field seconds after its commander radioed he was canceling the flight.

Witnesses said a wheel broke loose from the craft as it gathered speed for the takeoff causing the wing to drag on the runway.

Capt. Jack E. Tarquhar of Yorkum, Tex., radioed the operations tower he was "aborting" — Air Force talk for canceling — the flight as the plane began racing down the runway, base officials said.

The Air Force identified the other crewmen as Capt. John F. Dent, Jr., of Clinton, Md., pilot; Capt. Jack W. Duncan, no age given, of Toledo, Ohio, observer; and 1st Lt. Carlton A. Boutelle, 37, of the Barksdale Base.

Mrs. John Christian Dies at the Home Of Her Daughter

Eisenhower Asks Quick Report on Rocket Failure

2 State Officials Face 'Conflict of Interest' Probe

Check Transactions By Rep. Carrigan, Sen. James Monroe

SPRINGFIELD (AP)—State's Atty. J. Waldo Ackerman said today he will investigate transactions by State Rep. James D. Carrigan's electric firm and the firm of State Sen. James O. Monroe for possible violations of the "conflict of interest" law.

Carrigan's firm sold $94.08 worth of electric light bulbs to the Illinois House of Representatives during the 1957 session.

And the Collinsville Herald Inc., of which Monroe is listed as president, sold $54.65 worth of stationery to the Senate.

Carrigan, Peoria, and Monroe, Collinsville, both are Democrats.

The conflict of interest law prohibits legislators and other state officials from doing business with the state, regardless of amount. It was amended in the 1957 session to provide a maximum penalty of a $2,500 fine for violations. The previous maximum was a $1,000 fine.

A conflict of interest case is now pending against State Rep. Charles W. Clabaugh (R-Champaign).

Carrigan, contacted by United Press, said, "Yes, oh yes," when asked if his Carrigan Electric Co. had indeed made the sale of the light bulbs.

He said the House was "unable to get those big lights that go way up in the ceiling. I was asked if I could get some and I had the General Electric Co. to get them for me and I delivered them to Springfield."

Carrigan said Ackerman's investigation of possible "conflict of interest" violations in the matter was "rather ridiculous. I think I was doing the state a favor. Apparently the lights were something they couldn't get down there."

Monroe said he printed the stationery at the request of State Sen. William Lyons, who is entitled to $50 for incidental expenses during the legislative session. However, records from the auditor's office showed Lyons collected his $50 in expense money.

Monroe said his children own all the stock in the Collinsville Herald Inc., and that the "conflict of interest" law therefore could not apply to the transaction. He said he receives only a salary from the firm.

Says Area a 'Goldfish Bowl'

Defense Official Blames Newsmen For Publicized Propaganda Defeat

WASHINGTON (AP)—Assistant Defense Secretary Murray Snyder today blamed newsmen and the Cape Canaveral "goldfish bowl" test range for the unsuccessful first U. S. satellite shoot becoming a highly publicized propaganda defeat.

But other sources in the satellite program pointed out that Vanguard scientists were put on the spot when President Eisenhower said Oct. 10 the test would be an attempt to send a baby satellite into orbit.

Snyder and other defense officials, frequently stung for being overly secretive, were on the defensive today for giving out too much information on the launching. Congressmen declared all the fanfare caused a major propaganda loss to Russia in the eyes of the world.

But Snyder, assistant secretary for public affairs, said the shoot would not have received such a large buildup except that a reporter pinpointed the date for the firing 11 days ago. By the time zero hour arrived, 200 newsmen, photographers and cameramen were on the sand dunes overlooking the Florida missile range.

"The site is a goldfish bowl," Snyder said. "You can't put a missile as tall as a nine story building on the pad and not have it visible and identifiable."

He said he had "reports" some newsmen on the beach were equipped with radios that were monitoring the countdown. Some of the newsmen were "just as sophisticated about this missile business as the missile men," Snyder added.

Stevenson Aide Charges Article A Hoax; London Paper Apologizes

WASHINGTON (AP)—A spokesman for Adlai E. Stevenson pinned a "hoax" label today on a dispatch published in the London News-Chronicle under the byline of the two-time Democratic presidential nominee.

William Blair, Stevenson's assistant, said neither the former Illinois governor nor any member of his staff had either written or authorized the dispatch, which sharply criticized the Eisenhower administration.

The dispatch said the President and his staff "sacrificed truth" and "the respect and confidence of our friends abroad" for political advantage. It also criticized administration plans for the forthcoming NATO "summit" meeting in Paris.

Blair said Stevenson knew nothing about the contents of the article.

"It's just a hoax," he said. "Statements made months or years ago were updated and made to appear current."

"In addition," he added, "quotations were attributed to the governor—particularly on the NATO meeting—which he has never said to anyone."

Keith Kyle, Washington representative of the London newspaper, said that on behalf of his editors he has submitted to Stevenson an apology for "causing embarrassment to the governor."

Tells Quarles to Come Up Fast With Answers

Hagerty Denies White House Involved In Publicity Build-Up

GETTYSBURG, Pa. (AP)—President Eisenhower was reported on this anniversary of Pearl Harbor today to be deeply concerned about the failure of the Vanguard satellite test.

The President demanded that the Defense Department come up fast with the detailed answers on what went wrong with the luckless launching at Cape Canaveral, Fla., Friday.

From the glassed-in porch of his country home here, the President sent a terse directive to Acting Defense Secretary Donald A. Quarles.

What Eisenhower wanted to know—and in a hurry—was why the Vanguard rocket bloomed after a major publicity buildup by the information specialists of the Defense Department.

Vanguard officials said in Washington they would have a fairly good idea today after an examination of photographs of the launching what caused the rocket to explode upon firing.

Another Vanguard rocket was in readiness with a test satellite at the Cape Canaveral, Fla., test range, but exhausted technicians said it would not be scheduled for firing until investigators find what blasted apart the first one.

Though administration leaders were concerned over the failure, they were by no means despairing of the U. S. ability to put its own satellite up with the Russian Sputniks.

White House Press Secretary James C. Hagerty announced late Friday that the President, admittedly "disappointed" at the failure, asked Quarles for a "full report on what happened" to the ill-fated Vanguard.

Hagerty indicated the report may not reach the President until sometime early next week, after the President returns from a long weekend of rest at his farm.

Hagerty declined to comment on views of Dr. John P. Hagen, Vanguard project director, and some members of Congress that there should not have been so much advance publicity on the Vanguard attempt.

But he replied with a flat "No" when asked if the White House was in any way involved in any planned build-up for the firing.

Grain Moth Found In Southern Illinois

URBANA—The destructive Angoumois grain moth has been found in southern Illinois corn fields this fall. This means that it will be a real danger to all stored corn when warm weather comes, points out Steve Moore, entomologist with the University of Illinois College of Agriculture and the State Natural History Survey. Moore reports that in some corn fields moths were found in 30 per cent of the ears. Each infested ear had from one to 50 moth larvae in it. The worn stage of

Harvest Time Brings Chance of Accidents

Farm people suffer more accidents during harvest season than at any other time of the year. That's why University of Illinois extension safety specialist O. L. Hogsett urges farm workers to heed the advice, "Harvest time is be careful time."

Be especially careful during the rush of harvest, when the chances for accidents mount rapidly. Harvest is a season when too many farmers get into so big a hurry that they fail to take necessary caution.

First step for safe operation of harvesting machinery is to put it into good mechanical condition before harvest begins. Be sure shields and other safety guards are in place before you take the machine to the field.

Save yourself and your pocket-book by following these few safety rules:

1. Always be alert—never take a chance.
2. Keep all shields and safety guards in place.
3. Stop all machines before unclogging, greasing or adjusting them.
4. Don't wear loose or ragged clothing around machines.
5. Always operate your tractor at a safe speed, and be extra careful with tractors and other machines on highways.
6. Keep small children away from harvesting equipment.
7. Do not jump off equipment while it is moving.
8. Obey traffic rules and signs, and use headlights and taillights at night.

S.I.U. Country Column

By Albert Meyer

Bundles of Christmas trees will appear at retail stores across the country in the next few days as the annual sales program for the holiday season gets underway. Once they are in the retail outlet it usually is not possible to keep the trees stored in a cool place or to keep their base in contact with moist soil until they are sold. Consequently, there may be considerable needle loss from the trees before they are purchased and decorated to brighten the home.

To supply the Illinois market requires 2,000,000 trees annually with a retail value of more than $4,000,000. Of course, there is not that kind of Christmas tree production in the state, although there is growing interest in this type of tree farming. The Illinois Division of Forestry recently reported that 130,000 Illinois-grown Christmas trees with a retail value of $280,000 were harvested in 1955. This means that more than 90 percent of the Christmas trees sold in the state are shipped in from other areas of the nation or from Canada.

Here, then, lies an opportunity for farmers to grow evergreen trees for this market and obtain additional revenue from land that may not be well suited to other profitable farm uses. However there is more to producing Christmas trees at a profit than just planting a few acres of pine seedlings and letting them grow.

A farmer considering such a project must exercise some care in choosing a site and the right kind of seedling to plant; protect the stand from various enemies; prune the trees to obtain desirable shape and sufficient branches for Christmas tree use; harvest and grade the trees; and market them effectively.

Information on all these items, as well as others, will be covered thoroughly in a forthcoming illustrated publication that will be available about February at the SIU School of Agriculture. Some of the facts will be covered briefly in the remainder of this column.

An ideal site for planting seedlings for Christmas tree production is one that has not been farmed for several years but has come back into vegetation enough to have a medium cover of broom sedge or other annual and perennial grasses and herbaceous plants. Do not plant in heavy sod or on sites with a heavy cover of woody plants, such as sassafras, and vines such as dewberries, trumpet creeper, and similar plants that will choke out the young seedlings or cause deformed trees. Killing the vines and woody plants with sprays and plowing furrows in the sod will prepare the site.

Four groups of evergreens — pines, spruces, firs, and cedars — are used most often for Christmas trees. Climatic and soil conditions prevent satisfactory production of spruces and firs in Southern Illinois, so the cedars and pines should be considered for planting. Red Cedar is native, grows well on some of the poorest soil, and shapes up well but it has some drawbacks besides not seeming to appeal to the general public. The three most serious drawbacks are: weak side branches which do not support heavy ornaments well; frequent damage by a number of insect pests and diseases; and a tendency of the present used varieties to turn a brownish color just before harvesting.

Pines tend to be fast growing, and, except for jack pines, become scraggly in appearance unless they are shaped, by pruning. Five special production. These are Scotch red, Austrian, white, and jack pines. Illinois state forestry nurseries are the least expensive sources for seedlings. The number needed depends on spacing. If the farmer intends to harvest his trees at three or four feet in height he may plant the seedlings in four-by-four foot spacings which means planting 2,750 seedlings to the acre. If they are to be harvested at a large size the spacing needs to be increased by one or two feet.

How To Prune

Pruning of pine seedling usually must be started in its third or fourth year of growth, or whenever the annual growth of the terminal leader (top stem) goes over 10 to 14 inches. Prune in late spring or early summer when the trees are in the late "candle" stage, finishing by the middle of June.

In pruning, cut back the terminal leader to about 10 inches so that the trees will not make excessive height growth and will have less space between the whorls of branches. Then trim back the top whorl of branches to about three to five inches; shear the lower lateral branches to keep the tree from spreading too much at the base, and trim back the side branches to give the tree more of a cone shape. Cut only the current year's growth. Thin the trees every year thereafter except for the year in which the trees are to be harvested in the fall.

It is necessary to protect Christmas tree plantations from livestock which ruin the trees by trampling or browsing; from fire; from mice and rabbits which will girdle the seedlings or clip the top leaders; from insects and diseases (which are becoming more serious); and from the competition of vines and sprouts.

Harvesting and marketing are the payoff problem, but outside the realm of this column. Perhaps they can be treated in another issue.

Soil Conservation Plans Should Consider Whole Farm Business

Any farmer planning soil conservation measures on his farm will be ahead to look at the whole picture of the farm business, according to University of Illinois farm economist Earl R. Swanson.

The livestock program needs particular attention, Swanson points out. Kinds and numbers used with conservation plans must be carefully chosen.

A new soil conservation plan may involve changes in the acreage of forage and grain crops. So, when selecting a livestock program, a farmer will want to consider how much grain and forage he will produce. At the same time he will want to figure the capital and labor he will need to establish a livestock program to fit his forage and grain supply.

Proper handling of problem soils often requires an unfavorable balance between grain and forage in terms of feed required by most livestock. On such farms it may be necessary to have enough capital available to buy grain to balance the supply of forage.

Majors Kill Bonus Rule, Declare New York 'Open Territory'

COLORADO SPRINGS, Colo. (AP) — Baseball's controversial bonus rule officially was dead today, but the battle over territorial rights was more alive than ever, with New York being declared "open territory" for anyone—even the departed Dodgers, if they wish to return.

The major leagues wound up what was probably the most hectic meetings in their history Friday, not only by killing the bonus rule, but by instituting a new type four-year unrestricted draft, raising the player salary minimum to $7,000 and waging a drawn-out fight for the territory left vacant by the departure of the Dodgers and Giants to California.

Boiled down, the battle stacks up this way:

The National League wants to retain the New York territory as a possible "haven" for any of its clubs which might wish to move in there. The American League, on the other hand, wants to reserve the right of approval for any club desiring to share New York with the Yankees.

The Dodgers are encountering difficulties in obtaining a ball park site in Los Angeles and President Walter O'Malley conceded there was a possibility the club would return to Brooklyn, but he "doubted it very much."

To help unsway the territorial problem, Frick appointed two officials from each league to study amendments to the present rule. Frank Lane of the Indians and Roy Egan of the White Sox were named from the AL while Gabe Paul of the Red Legs and Dick Meyer of the Cardinals were designated from the NL.

Leagues Differ on Bonus

The bonus rule did not pass out of existence without a battle. Although both the minors and the majors voted for its extinction, the National League voted 6-2 against making it retroactive while the American League voted 5-3 for the opposite side, which would permit the 21 bonus players now in the minors to be sent to the minors immediately.

Since each league voted differ-ently, Frick was called upon to break the deadlock and he sided with the National League. That means all present bonus players must remain with their respective major league clubs until the two-year period expires.

The four-year draft carried Frick's endorsement and was approved by the majors and minors alike. In essence, it calls for the unrestricted draft of all players with four years experience in the minors. The draft price will be $25,000.

Reds Obtain Haddix, Five Other Pitchers

COLORADO SPRINGS, Colo. (AP) — Manager Birdie Tebbetts of the Cincinnati Redlegs looked over the names of six new additions to his pitching staff today and proclaimed that Harvey Haddix, obtained in a trade with Philadelphia, may be just the man he needed.

"We came to this convention knowing that we needed to change our pitching picture," said Tebbetts. "And now we have six new additions. Maybe we can find the right combination."

Haddix was obtained in a swap with the Philadelphia Phillies, who got power-hitting outfielder Wally Post from the Redlegs in an even-up deal.

Managers of both clubs said they were happy with the deal. "I hated to give up Haddix," said manager Mayo Smith of the Phils. "But we simply needed more power. Post was the best power hitter available and I think he will be a better ball player in our ball park. You gotta give up something to get something in this game."

Post, 28, batted only .244 last year, but hit 70 homers and drove in 74 runs. He struck out 84 times. In 1955, his best year, he hit .309, walloped 40 homers and knocked in 109 runs.

Haddix is 32 and had a 10-13 record last year with a 4.05 earned-run average.

General Manager Roy Hamey of the Phillies added that "we came down here to fix up our offense and Post fits the category."

It is expected that the Phillie outfield now will stack up with Richie Ashburn at center; Post in right and either Rip Repulski or Harry Anderson in left.

The other pitchers the Redlegs have obtained since the opening of the current convention are three right-handers from the St. Louis Cardinals: Willard Schmidt, Marty Kutyn and Ted Weland; lefty Bill Wright from Baltimore and Will Cade, drafted from St. Paul, of the American Association.

Tebbetts said that he planned to use Haddix "both as a starter and reliever."

McClellan Charges Tennessee Officials Permitted Teamster Reign of Terror

WASHINGTON (AP) — Chairman John L. McClellan of the Senate Rackets Committee charged today some Tennessee law officials allowed Teamsters Union leaders and goons to wage a reign of terror without fear of punishment.

The Arkansas Democrat said this was evident in a recital of dynamiting, highway shootings, truck sabotage, beatings and window-smashings marking teamster activities across the East Tennessee Mountains into North Carolina, Mississippi and Louisiana.

McClellan challenged local officials to get out from under "the thumb or heel of these racketeers."

More testimony on labor violence in Tennessee was expected from Knoxville, Tennessee grocer B. B. Powers, whose store was dynamited during a teamsters' jury.

strike against a local Coca Cola bottling plant. Committee officials said two Nashville police officers also would testify.

Testimony Friday from Mrs. Lola Jeanette Freels, a petite brunette who was formerly bookkeeper for Knoxville Teamster Local 621, prompted McClellan's outburst. He said it showed "reckless and criminal elements of the Teamsters Union in that area and their leaders operate in violation of the law and commit almost any offense, including coercion and intimidation, with almost complete impunity."

Knoxville District Attorney General Hal Clements Jr., said later he would reopen some of the cases which occurred in 1954-56 on the basis of the testimony, possibly putting them before a special grand jury.

Clements told newsmen when police interviewed Mrs. Freels at the time she refused to sign a statement on the ground that she was "intimidated." He said he came to Washington because he heard that she might "open up" in her testimony before the committee. She did.

Mrs. Freels testified four local teamster officials were the leaders in beatings, dynamiting and "syrupings" of truck engines with non-union trucking companies and their drivers and victims.

The four were: William J. Reynolds, former president, and H. L. Payne, Jr., secretary-treasurer of the Knoxville local; W. A. (Hard Hearing Smitty) Smith, business agent of Local 327, Nashville, and Glenn W. Smith, president of the Chattanooga local.

Social and Personal Items

Mr. and Mrs. James L. Yarber, 1008 South Land street, Harrisburg, had the following guests for the Thanksgiving holiday: Mr. and Mrs. Philip Pittman and daughter, Sandy; Mr. and Mrs. Shelby Pittman and children, Denny and Gail, Henderson, Ky.; Mr. and Mrs. Joe Yarber and daughters, Debbie and Lesia Jo, Pontiac, Mich.; Mrs. Arthur Hill, Stonefort; Mr. and Mrs. Estle Conway and children, Carolyn, Ellen, Kay, Paul and Wayne; Mrs. Rose Stricklin and John Yarber and family, Gary, Ind.

Mrs. C. A. (Alma Jean) Garrett and son, Ralph Wayne, left Friday for San Juan, Puerto Rico, where her husband is a staff sergeant in the U. S. Air Force, and where they will reside for the next three years. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Johnson, who reside southeast of Wason, and has been with her parents here for the past three months. En route to Puerto Rico she will visit a sister, Mrs. Harold King, in Chicago.

Church Official, Army Chief Differ On Use of Money

ST. LOUIS (AP) — The newly elected president of the National Council of Churches and the United States Army chief of staff are sharply opposed on how billions of U. S. dollars should be used to deter war.

The Rev. Dr. Edwin T. Dahlberg, St. Louis Baptist pastor, told 2,000 church leaders at the final session of the council's triennial general assembly Friday that the money should be spent partly for "loaves of bread" for the world's hungry.

Gen. Maxwell D. Taylor, told the same group earlier that heavy military spending is absolutely essential to "prevent the disaster of World War III."

Dahlberg, in an inaugural address, declared that the concept of "massive retaliation" is "completely outmoded" in an age when rockets armed with nuclear warheads can reduce the world to "a radioactive ash heap."

Cites War Causes
Dahlberg did not say the United States should bow out of defense spending but he maintained huge sums spent on military weapons are ultimately "futile" as a basis of security.

"It is not half so important that we send Sputniks circling around the globe as that we should send more loaves of bread around the world," Dahlberg said. "It is the hunger and misery of the vast populations of earth, the unrestrained birthrate, the fanatical ignorance and illiteracy of oppressed peoples, that makes for war," he said.

Taylor declared, "The sole justification for the existence of armed forces is not to win wars, but to prevent them from occurring." "The cost of an effective deterrent force is high," Taylor acknowledged, and he said the military budget, now running about 38 billion dollars yearly, "tends to rise" each year as the military machine becomes more complicated.

UNEF Pay Truck Held Up in Gaza Strip

CAIRO (AP) — Three armed civilians held up a United Nations Emergency Force truck and robbed a cashier of $1,960 on a deserted road in the Gaza Strip Friday, the U.N. announced today. The cashier, accompanied by a driver and a soldier, was making his regular Friday trip to pay UNEF civilian employees in the strip, the announcement said. Two men with drawn pistols forced the truck to stop and a third man rammed a sten gun in the cashier's back, the U.N. said.

'That I May Know Christ'

Philippians 3:4-21
GOLDEN TEXT: "I count all things but loss for the excellency of the knowledge of Christ Jesus my Lord." (Philippians 3:8)

INTRODUCTION — Paul's pur pose in life was to know Christ and to make Him known to others. Is this not the real purpose of every Christian today? We think now of some men who have come to know Christ as Savior during recent months. It is a real pleasure and joy to see those men grow spiritu ally daily. They are coming to know Christ better as the days pass. These same men are not keeping their blessings secret.
They are telling others about what Christ means to them.

Whenever a person is truly
"born again," they never keep it to themselves. They come to realize what the lost condition of the souls of their friends really means. They want their loved ones and friends to "pass from eternal death to eternal life." Therefore, they wit ness.

I LIFE'S GREATEST DECISION
(V. 4-7)
Have you ever heard a person say: "I would like to become a Christian, but it costs too much; I would have to give up too much?"
Look at what cost Paul: He was
"of the stock of Israel, of the tribe of Benjamin, an Hebrew of the Hebrews," as touching the law, a Pharisee. Friend, in the eyes of the world, Paul was really some thing. In the eyes of the Jewish people, he was tops.

Paul was one of the best edu cated men of his day. He was a member of the sanhedrin, the legal body of that day. He attended all feasts and religious ceremonies both at the temple and at home.
Paul lived strictly according to God's law.

When Paul found Christ as his own personal Savior, he was will ing to give all the glory of life up, and reflect the light of Christ. He declared everything that he was and everything he had, to be a complete loss to himself, that he might live for Christ.

Friend, how can you say that it costs too much, or, that you would make Him known to others. It to make Him known to others. It became a Christian? Did you not know that to hold onto social rank, religious station, or things of this world can only mean eternal death and separation from God. Far bet ter it would be for you to give up whatever is necessary, and to pay whatever price, that you may know Christ. Yes, Paul's greatest decision was to accept Christ. The greatest decision any person can make today is to know Christ as personal Savior!

II PAUL WAS DEDICATED
(V. 8-14)

Paul had a deep, abiding faith in Christ. He really believed that Christ is the answer to every situa tion in life. He forgot about self and lived for Christ. This must be the spirit of Christians today.
Self righteousness has no place in the life of a true Christian. All the righteousness we can know is found in Christ—certainly not in ourselves.

Whenever you find a person who boasts of their own goodness, you may be sure that they have not the spirit of Christ. Often a per son will say: "I can't see why I am lost. I am honest. I do not swear. I pay my bills. I am good and true to my family." "I, I, I!"
This is self-righteousness, and God has said that: "All your righteous ness is as filthy rags in my sight."
Yes, all the righteousness that any human being can claim in God's sight is found in Christ Jesus.

Paul would not look back. He said that we should forget all the good and bad things of the past.
He said that he had "not yet ar rived, or, reached the goal. Paul said that we should all look ahead.
Look to the future, and in so do ing, "press toward the mark for the prize of the high calling of God in Christ Jesus."

III PAUL WAS SURE OF ETERN
AL LIFE (V. 20-21)
Paul reminds us that victory is sure and certain for every Chris tian. A crown of eternal life is awaiting every believer in Christ Jesus. God's only begotten Son
There is no doubt about it! In this life here on earth there are many uncertainties. Sometimes we doubt the earthly victories. However, the Behind every structure, whether large or small, intricate or simple, there's a blue print. And behind every blueprint there's a vision.

Someone has a dream. He explains it to an architect. Using the tools of his trade, the architect makes a blueprint—a plan to show workmen how to build what was first conceived in a dream.

Centuries upon centuries ago God had a vision. He made man in His image, then gave him the tools to fashion a blueprint.
The Bible was the result—a blueprint for right-living for every man who breathes.

God is the Supreme Architect. Under Him today churches work to show man how to use the Bible as a blueprint for his own life. When that plan is followed, life is good. When it is ignored, confusion and disaster result.

Let the church of your choice show you and your family how to follow the blue print for peaceful living.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . . ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest fac tor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values.
Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and sup port the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For the sake of his community and nation. (3)
For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and mat terial support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

final victory is sure for the Chris tian.
CONCLUSION — Every true Christian is listening for the "shout" of Jesus from the skies, for one day He will appear in the heavens. The heavens will "roll back as a scroll. The dead in Christ shall rise and afterward they that are alive." All Chris tians, dead and living shall be "caught up to meet Him." All Christians "shall be changed in a moment, in the twinkling of an eye." That is going to be a great day! It is coming as sure as God is in His heaven. To be ready for that day, one must know Christ as Paul did. Do you know Him?

Matter of FACT

The leaning tower of Pisa, Italy, located next to the cathedral of Pisa in the Piazza del Duomo, is a campanile or bell tower. It is 179 feet high and 50 feet in diameter. It overhangs its base about 16 1/2 feet. The exact reason for the leaning position of the building is not known, though an architect's error is generally held responsible.

Celtics Whip Hawks, 111-97

By United Press
The Boston Celtics, the scourge of the National Basketball Association's Eastern Division, are making life miserable for the St. Louis Hawks of the Western Division, too.

The Celtics whipped the Hawks Friday night for the third time, 111-97, for their 18th win in 20 games and the Hawks' ninth loss in 19 contests. Frank Ramsey and Bill Sharman scored 31 points each for the Celtics, who remained unbeaten in eight home games.

The Celtics trailed, 68-57, three minutes into the third period but rallied to go ahead, 77-76, at 11:30. Then, they outscored the Hawks, 34-21, in the final period to win easily. Bob Pettit had 28 points for the Hawks.

Larry Costello's 20 points paced the Syracuse Nationals to a 118-91 win over the Detroit Pistons and Richie Guerin tallied 21 points to spark the New York Knickerbockers to a 112-97 triumph over the Cincinnati Royals in the other Friday night action.

Ridgway, Equality, Cave-in-Rock Win in Area; Johnston City Beats Eldorado

Ridgway, Equality and Cave-in-Rock won Greater Egyptian conference games Friday.

The big GEC game was played at Ridgway where the host club and Rosiclare, each with 3-0 records, battled for the conference leadership. And it was Ridgway that claimed the decision, 46-39.

Equality broke into the GEC win column by taking a 50-38 victory at Pope County and Shawneetown remained winless with a 89-48 defeat at the hands of Cave-in-Rock. Ridgway built up a big 18-9 first quarter lead, then watched Rosiclare make a determined bid and whittle the advantage to 34-33 after three quarters of action.

Then Ridgway rallied for a 12-6 last frame advantage and a 46-39 decision.

Roger Suttner's 18 points, including 10 from the free throw line, paced the scoring for both teams and received 8-point assistance from both Gene Crawford and Don Sanders.

Donnie Seay was tops for Rosiclare with 13 points, nine coming on free tosses.

The loss was the first in GEC play for Rosiclare since the 1955-56 season.

Ridgway now tops the league standings with a 4-0 record and will meet Galatia, the other perfect record GEC team with 2-0, next Tuesday. The game will be played at Galatia.

Equality trailed Pope County 25-20 at half-time intermission, but

14 High School Grid Deaths

CHICAGO — The National Federation of State High School Athletic Associations has reported that 14 boys were injured fatally in prep football in 1957.

The federation said there were about two deaths for every 100,000 players, which is an accident rate much lower than the 55 for each 100,000 in the overall accident rate.

A survey showed that 56 per cent of the fatalities were the result of torn brain tissues "due to sudden stops through hitting the head on the ground or other solid object." Another 30 per cent, the survey indicated, were the result of ruptured internal organs.

The federation said swimming and other water sports had a death rate which was nearly twice as high as prep football. About 800 persons die each year in hunting accidents, the survey said, and 540 are killed riding bicycles.

Carrier Mills Races to 68-42 Win Over Galatia

Wildcats Remain Unbeaten, Win Fourth Straight

Carrier Mills remained in the ranks of the unbeaten Friday night by racing to a 68-42 decision over Galatia. The game was played on the losers' floor. It was victory number four for the Wildcats.

After a close first half, Carrier Mills broke out in a scoring rash and claimed a 41-18 advantage in the final two periods of play to win going away.

Galatia used a pressing game and fine rebounding to keep on even terms during the opening quarters, but Carrier Mills grew stronger as the game progressed and turned a close game into an easy victory.

The first quarter was a typical Galatia-Carrier Mills battle, lots of running and shooting, but neither team was very accurate. With the lead changing hands seven times and being tied twice the large crowd was in an uproar. There were just 20 seconds left to play when Carrier Mills hit a long one-hander to pull Carrier Mills into a 13-all tie. During the hectic first quarter each team scored on five field goals and three free tosses, each missed three times from the free throw line and each committed five fouls.

The second quarter followed the pattern and with 1:35 to go CM was on top by just a point, 24-23, but at the intermission was in front by three, 27-24.

Hill quickly knotted the count at 27-all as the third period started but a short time later Carrier Mills went on a 10-point spree and held a 44-33 advantage as the final frame started.

Another ten-point spurge ran the count to 54-33 early in the last quarter.

Rollins, with 11 points in the last quarter, paced the scoring with 20, followed by Manier's 16. Bill Smith also hit in double figures, 14.

Thornton Davis paced Galatia with 15 points and Jones and Thornberry played an exceptionally fine rebounding game for Galatia.

Galatia took the preliminary game, 66-61.

Carrier Mills will host Harrisburg this evening. Galatia will be idle until Tuesday, when Ridgway calls for a GEC contest.

First Loss for Locals; Play Unbeaten Wildcats At Carrier Mills Tonight

The ever-working Harrisburg Bull Dogs last night lost a close hard-fought South Seven basketball game, 61-57, to the Wildcats at Marion.

Tonight the Bull Dogs stay in the county, travelling to Carrier Mills for a contest with Coach A. L. Willis' crew that features big Vern Rollins from last year's fine Carrier Mills aggregation. The Wildcats of Carrier Mills have not lost a game this year.

Getting back to last night, the Bull Dogs were only two points behind, 59-57, with 25 seconds left, but a foul called on a Harrisburg player in the closing seconds resulted in two free throws and a four-point win for Marion.

Beaten on Free Throws

The game was fast all the way one that delighted the fans, with Harrisburg having the edge on ball handling and speed, and the Marion crew the edge in height. Harrisburg was beaten on free throws, as the locals made 26 field goals to 22 for Marion.

Marion boasts a 6-5 center, Bob Dawe, but it was 6-4 Bob Johnson who was giving the locals trouble. The lanky forward made 21 points for the scoring honors of the game.

Coach John Dotson had four boys scoring in the double figures, as the Bull Dogs were doing a good job of shooting over the zone defense of the tall Marion boys, with the good shooting being from the side, and with Ray Hassett getting in from the post position for some good shots.

High point man for Harrisburg was guard Gary Stricklin, smallest regular, who had 17 points. Hassett had 14, sophomore John Stone had 10, Kinch Jones had 11, Ron Maynard had 6 and Bob Pavelonis three.

Score Tied at Half

Marion pulled out to a 14-10 lead during the first quarter but in the second frame the Bull Dogs tie the count at 20-20 with five minutes yet to go before intermission. Then Harrisburg pulled out in front 27-25 before Marion tied the score at 29-29 just before the half ended.

Marion pulled out to a 43-39 lead in the third quarter as Johnson made 10 of his 14 points and held a five point margin, 57-52, with a minute and a half left in the game. Stone hit for Harrisburg with 50 seconds remaining but the margin went to five again when John Shotton of Marion, 6-2 forward, connected on two free shots.

Stricklin hit for Harrisburg to narrow the count at 59-56 and with 25 seconds Bob Pavelonis was fouled. He made his first shot to close the gap to 59-57, then shot the next one wide in an attempt for a local player to get the rebound, shoot and tie the score. It didn't work.

Bull Pups Lose, 58-51

A foul was called on Harrisburg as the Bull Dogs were trying to tie up Marion and Shotton again made two free throws.

A large delegation was on hand from Harrisburg and the fans were pleased with the way the Bull Dogs played.

In the preliminary contest Coach Chester Caddas' Bull Pups bowed to Marion, 58-51. Marion led 15-10 at the quarter, 29-23 at the half and 41-38 at the end of the third quarter.

J. B. Henshaw was high for Harrisburg with 14 points. Dale Roberson had 13, Charles Banks had 8, Jim Lamb and Jerry Kane had 6 each, Roger Aldridge had 3 and Larry Wise had 1.

Thousands of years ago a giant beaver, longer than a black bear, lived in North America. It measured 7½ feet long, counting its tail. The modern beaver found in Nebraska never stops growing. However, it does not grow fast enough or live long enough to acquire any great size.
